WASHINGTON HIGH SCHOOL

Washington, Iowa

I'm pretty contented that some of these quips
Will prove to be more than a bore;
'Cause I tossed a copy in the furnace this noon,
And gee, did the fire roar!

One

FOREWORD

The last double exposure has been taken and the heart-breaks of fogged plates are over. All the mounting cement has been rubbed from our fingers. Every picture cut too short has been replaced. Now we can sit back and view our mistakes---Oh well, we've even found a "mistake" in the dictionary . . and perhaps you can find some virtues in our labors.

With this issue of Hi-Life we celebrate the twentieth anniversary of our new high school building. In it we have endeavored to make the snapshots more numerous. The size has been changed to one that will fit on the bookshelf with your favorite volumes. If in the second score anniversary of the Washington High School Building, you are reminded of fond memories of Orange and Black, our work will be more than repaid.

- - - THE EDITOR

Some day we'll be lamenting the good old days when the younger generation wasn't "what it is now."

DEDICATION

While a student of Washington High School in 1922, you helped make the Orange and Black the Iowa State High School Football Champions. As head of the athletic department, your keen wit, loyalty, and friendship have made you seem an almost inseparable part of our High School. To you, leaving with the class of "38", we, the Seniors, dedicate this XIX Volume of Hi-Life.

GEORGE FRESHWATERS

Freshie gave the Demons a good idea of what a football player should look like.

LETTER CLUB

The letter club, organized this year, is made up of boys who received letters in basketball or football or both. The officers are: Carl Jungbluth, President; Robert Anderson, Vice-president; and Jack Trotman, Secretary-treasurer. There were twenty-five members.

Plans for the year were to sponsor a school dance and an assembly to give out basketball and football letters. They also planned a banquet for the club and the boys of past years who received letters. One of the ideals of the club is to establish an injury fund to be used by the players participating in school athletics.

COACHES

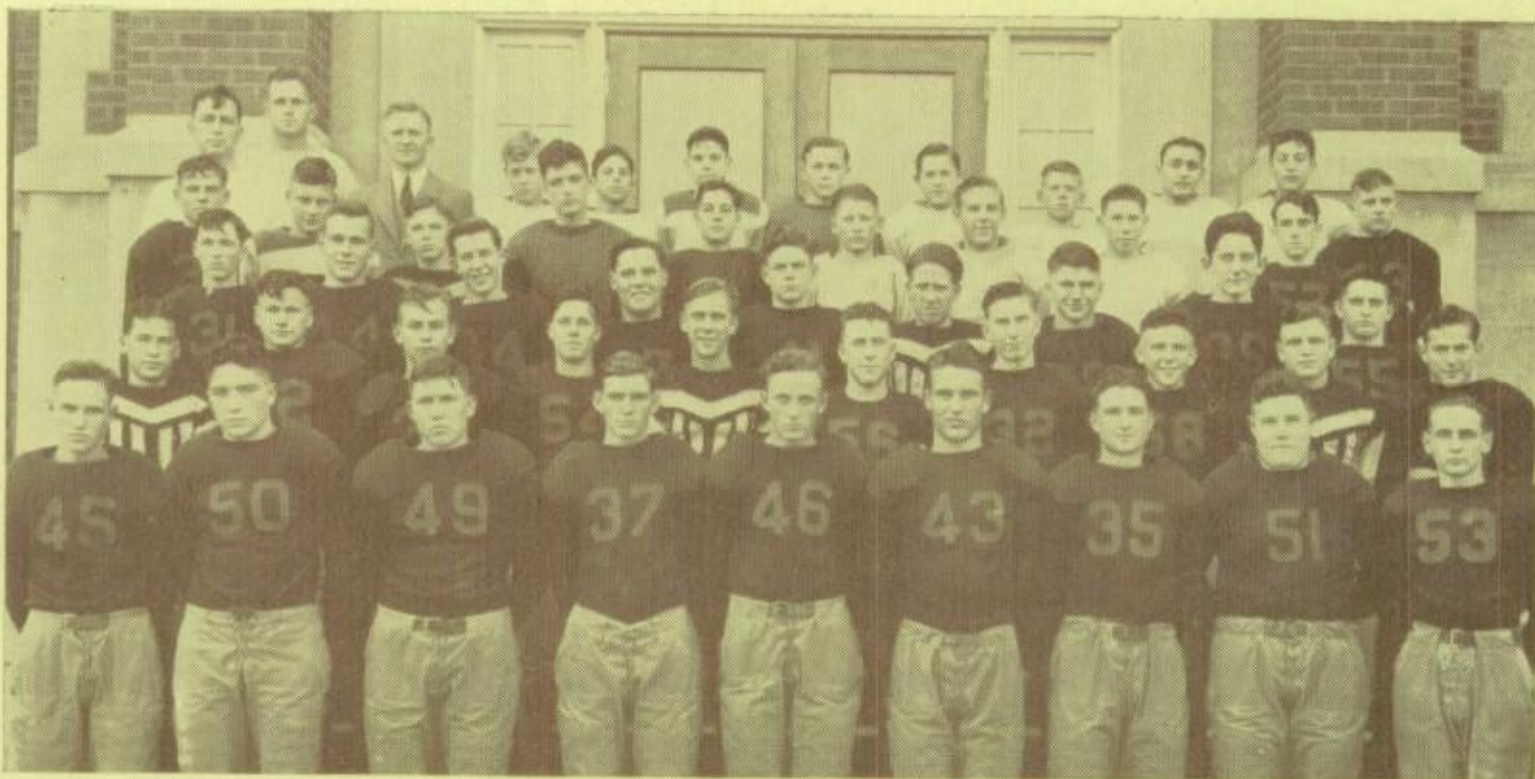

Head Coach George Freshwaters, in charge of athletics of the high school and the junior college, coached high school football and college basketball. This is Mr. Freshwaters' last year. The school will miss him.

Mr. Kenneth Kimberlin coached high school basketball and college football. Mr. Kimberlin is a real sport and has done a lot for the teams.

The track coach is Mr. Fred Maasdam. He is also assistant coach in football and basketball. He is not only liked by the boys he associates with, but he is also a friend of everybody.

Washington opened the season with a game with Columbus Junction on September 17. The score was 19-6 in our favor.

The next Friday night we didn't do so well. The game was with Keokuk with a 0-6 score.

The boys came back from Ottumwa with a defeat of 7-24. It could have been better. The boys were asleep that day!

Burlington played here October 8th. It was a hard fought battle. The score—0-0.

Fairfield took another game away from us the next Friday over there with a 0-12 score.

Oct. 22 was our lucky night at Muscatine. The boys came back with a 7-6 victory. What a game!

Washington played Fort Madison October 29. The game ended with another 0-0 tie.

The Mt. Pleasant game had a lot of Washington supporters. It must have helped because they brought back a 6-0 victory. We got the touchdown in the last few minutes of the play. Nice going!

We closed the season with an afternoon game here with McKinley High of Cedar Rapids. Washington walked away with a 13-6 victory. Excellent way to end the season! ! !

BASKETBALL

The season opened with a game at Williamsburg which Washington won. This game was followed by three more pre-season games in all of which Washington came out on top.

Our first Little-Six game was at Keokuk and from then on to the end of the season the boys had bad luck. Some of the games were very close, but there just weren't enough points to put them out front. But no one can say they didn't fight to the last gun shot, even if they did lose.

BASKETBALL PLAYERS

Don Custer—was this year's captain. Don was out three years. He completed this year and his last year with the distinction of being the leading scorer. He played forward.

Jack Trotman—was out for basketball for three years. Jack played guard. He was probably our best floor man. He is a senior and the team will miss his all-round floor play very much.

Dick Hotle—played guard. He was a steady player and had an ability to connect with long shots. Dick played all four years.

Dale Adrian—is a senior. This was Dale's first year here. He played guard and did his share and always was trying to win.

Myron White—is a junior. Myron came out late but made himself known for hooking rebounds. Great things will be expected of Myron next year.

Bob Anderson—played forward and he is a junior. Bob always had a good spirit and a determination to win.

Ellis Finke—played either forward or guard. He is a junior and he is noted for his aggressive floor play.

Charles Snyder—played center and used his strength and ability to good advantage on rebounds.

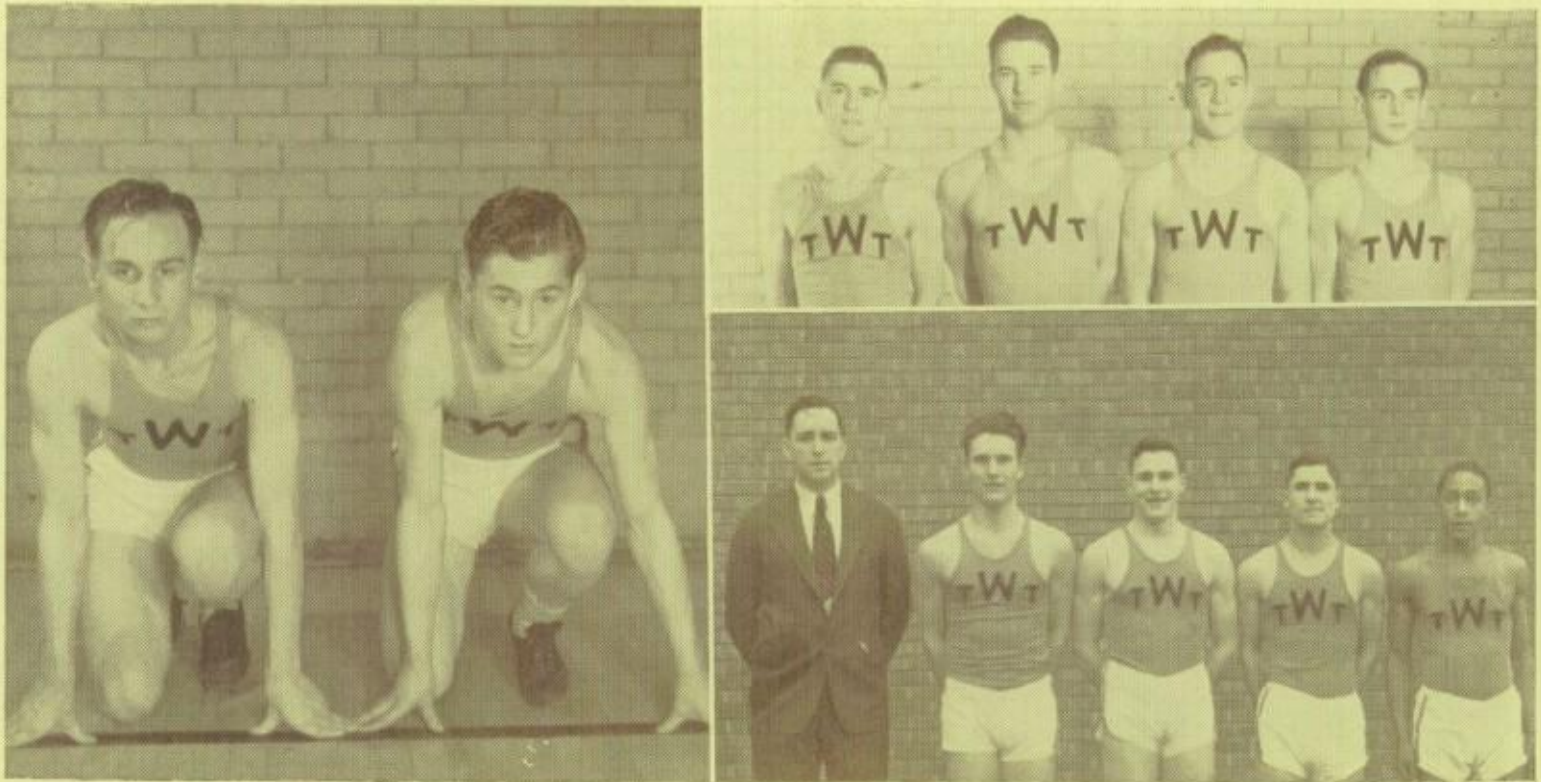

Bob Lewis—a sophomore, was elected captain for next year. Bob played forward. Much is expected from him the next two years.

Bob Macon—played forward and was a very good shot. Bob is a sophomore and has two years left to play. We will be watching him.

Flash, Flash, Hello America! Washington just made a basket.

Mr. Maasdam (after a desperate struggle with Nature)—“Try-outs for track team will be tomorrow—(surrendering gallantly)—If it doesn't rain!”

GIRLS' ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

The Girls' Athletic Association was organized on an entirely new basis this year. The club will be associated with the state organization. Managers are appointed to direct each athletic tournament the girls have whether it is basketball or kickball or another school sport. The point system for gaining special awards has been altered some but remains essentially the same as last year. In addition to receiving credits for participation in inter-class tournaments, a girl may receive credit for hiking, tennis, walking, or any sport. Practice periods were arranged for the girls to use the gym floor, and the girls took much interest in this type of organization.

OFFICERS OF G. A. A.

(As they appear in picture) Helen Hobbs, Vice-president; Margaret Flenner, President; Evalyn Nebergall, Treasurer; and Iowa Huber, Secretary.

PEP CLUB

This year Miss Stone organized the W. H. S. Pep Club. This new club is composed of girls who sing in the glee club and are interested in stimulating the school spirit at basketball games. The girls wearing black and orange uniforms marched at the half at high school basketball games with the band accompanying them. Besides singing the Orange and Black other songs were learned and were sung at the games. This organization representing the glee clubs of school did its part to encourage the team and to pep up the student body.

Pep Club Officers: Frances Sartor, Secretary; Helen Hobbs, President; June Knotek, Treasurer; Ruth Anderson, Vice-president.

1st Row: Mary Walker, Maxine Baxter, Mildred Meyer, Phyllis Sisk, Esther Hayes, Evalyn Miller, Twila Mangold, Beulah Stewart, Ruth Anderson, Gayle Robertson.

2nd Row: Jeanette Boshart, Eleanor Kimmel, June Knotek, Patricia Smith, Annie James, Ramona Riley, Frances Sartor, Doris Leffler, Maxine Churchill, Bonnie Ryan.

3rd Row: Mable Finney, Marjorie Ahrens, Betty Drake, Helen Hobbs, Wilma Thompson, Hazel Simmering, Marjorie Walker, Gweneth Krusor, Jean Walker, Miss Stone.

Not in the picture are: Eloise Springer, Esther Masson, and Lela Coffin.

Miss Fisher, (making brief examination)—“I can’t find a thing wrong with you.” (Then relenting a trifle): “Perhaps you need a little rest.”

D. Humston, (Anxiously)—“But look at my tongue!”

Miss Fisher—“I know. It needs rest, too.”

MARCHING BAND

The Washington High Marching Band under Mr. Brayton's direction had a great deal to do with inspiring the student body with pep. In spite of cold wind, rain, snow or any disagreeable weather, the band could be counted on to be on hand at football games to keep the crowd in an enthusiastic mood although many times the clarinet players' hands—not to mention everyone else's fingers—were blue with cold. Between halves of the game, the band entertained the crowd by marching on the field in various formations, and executing difficult drills. W. H. S. Band won a "Superior" at the district contest and at this writing was expecting to compete at the state contest.

Officer—"What's the idea of speeding around town like this? Why don't you use your noodle?"

Dixie Carter (eagerly)—"Where is the 'noodle'? I've tried everything, but I can't stop the car."

THE CONCERT BAND

Mr. Brayton is largely responsible for the success of this organization of sixty members which has been a credit to the school. The band before contest in the spring works especially hard, and during the year it gave a well-received concert open to the public. In addition each year an open air concert is given on the lawn of the school. The pep band also comes from this musical organization and plays for pep meetings and basketball games. (You've probably seen certain members of the pep band blowing the horns lustily at the games. The musicians in the front row of the balcony usually hang their feet over the railing.) The group rehearses three times each week and is another reason why W. H. S. should be proud of itself.

Flutes: Carolyn Strong, Clara Ann Huber, Eleanor Maas, Mildred Hughes, Russell Rohrer. Oboes: Betty Kolosick, Verla Boshart. Bassoons: Mary Lynn Heilman, Frances Porter. Alto Clarinet: Stewart Bell. Bass Clarinet: Francis Hughes. Alto Saxophones: Virginia Rohrer, Agatha North. Tenor Saxophone: Charles Maas. Baritone Saxophone: Richard Pringle. ORCHESTRA

Almost without exception, the Washington High School Orchestra furnished the music before and between acts of the school plays of both junior college and high school. A group from the orchestra also accompanied certain choruses and songs in the operetta, "In Old Vienna." The orchestra members rehearsed three times a week and worked faithfully on Beethoven and Bach before the district contest where they appeared as contestants. Before this big event this musical organization appeared in a concert open to the public. For contest and for this concert the main selection was part of the first movement of Beethoven's First Symphony.

1st Violins: Lois Humble, Evalyn Nebergall, Betty Michels, Carol Gray. 2nd Violins: Mary Westphal, Margaret Hennon, Beulah Stewart, Gayle Robertson, Margery Walker. Cellos: Mary Atchison, Mary Walker. Violas: Ruth Turner, Jeanette Boshart. String Basses: Esther Masson, Ione Steele. Clarinets: Margaret Snider, Helen Hayes. Oboe: Betty Kolosick. Bassoon: Frances Porter. Flutes: Carolyn Strong, Eleanor Maas. French Horns: John Munn, Helen See, Norma Johnson. Trombone: Charles Mayo, Herbert Huber. Drums: John Saul. Coronets: Richard Birney, Everett Burham.

Not in the picture: Mary Lynn Heilman, bassoonist.

SMALL INSTRUMENTAL GROUPS

String quintette: Mary Atchison, Ruth Turner, Esther Masson, Betty Michels, Mary Westphal.

The string quintette played for a number of clubs and organizations such as the Fortnightly Club and the Y's Men's Club. Besides playing for various special occasions, these musicians competed in the district music contest.

Brass sextette: Dick Birney Everett Burham, Herman Matucha, Milo Steele, Donald Beenblossom, David Pearson.

The brass sextette won a Superior rating at the sub-district music contest and played in the district contest. The sextette also performed in assembly for the benefit of the student body, and participated in the pre-district concert given before the district contest.

Woodwind quintette: Francis Hughes, Carolyn Strong, Betty Kolosick, Margaret Snider, Stewart Bell.

This group received an Excellent rating at the sub-district contest. The members of the quintette had not played together before this year although some had had experience of being in a small instrumental group.

GIRLS' A CONTEST GLEE CLUB

The Girls' Glee Club under Miss Stone's direction entered the contest this year singing "My Love Dwelt In a Northern Land" and "Slumber Song." The girls worked hard in rehearsal to be able to convince the judges at contest that they had honest-to-goodness lovers who lived in some icy climate and that they could send you into dreamland if they wanted to. Before the contest they appeared in a concert given by contestants for the district music contest. The contest glee club, composed of 33 members, rehearsed for an hour twice a week and before contest oftener. The officers of this musical group are: Mary Atchison, Helen Hobbs, Dixie Carter and Frances Sartor.

1st row: Vlasta Musil, Twila Mangold, Esther Hayes, Mildred Meyer, Doris Leffler, Evelyn Miller, Iowa Huber, Esther Masson, Vada Fетters, Ruth Anderson.

Gweneth Krusor and Margaret Hennon, who are in the contest glee club, are not in the picture.

Other girls who were in the A Glee Club were: Wilma Bales, Leola McLamore, Fern Reinier, Ramona Riley, Bonney Ryan, Phyllis Sisk, Pat Smith, Eloise Springer, Alice Stoops, Theodosia Turner, Beulah Stewart, Frances Adams, and Ruth Wead.

Bertha Kephart was the accompanist.

BOYS' GLEE CLUB

One of the high points of the school year as far as music goes is the music contest and of course, the boys' glee club was on hand to participate. Miss Stone directed the organization which is composed of 24 members. The officers are: Stewart Bell, President; Richard Hotle, Vice-president; Wendell Baker, Secretary-treasurer; and David Pearson, Librarian. Gweneth Krusor accompanied them.

4th row: Milo Steele, Duane Griggs, Wayne Wilson, Marion Timmins, Miss Stone.

Those not in the picture are: Herbert Huber and Luther Ballew.

The boys' bass includes everything from first base to Home, Sweet Home.

MIXED CHORUS

One of the large vocal groups in high school is the mixed chorus composed of boys and girls from the glee clubs. This group is part of the group of singers which make up the chorus for Baccalaureate. Contest time is a high spot in the year for the members of this organization as for all school musicians. This year they sang at Davenport at the District Music contest. Miss Stone has charge of the group, and the officers are Jack Trotman, President; Marion Timmins, Vice-president; June Knotek, Secretary-treasurer; Duane Griggs, Librarian. Bertha Reinert is the accompanist.

5th row: Milo Steele, Richard Hotle, Mabel Finney, Gweneth Krusor, Margery Ahrens, Lela Coffin, Marion Timmins, Duane Griggs.

Mixed Chorus doesn't have sit-down strikes: it has walkouts, doesn't it, Jack Trotman?

SMALL VOCAL GROUPS

Boys' Quartette: Marior Timmins, Dick Hotle, Stewart Bell, David Pearson.

The boys' quartette showed their singing ability by rating a "Superior" at music contest in spite of the fact the group hadn't sung together before. Contest, of course, was one of the important times when they sang, and the high school assembly and the public had a chance to hear them.

Mixed Quintette: Marion Timmins, Lois Humble, Maxine Baxter, Dixie Carter, Wendell Baker.

These musicians, as the boys' quartette, received a superior rating at contest. In assembly and in the concert before the District Contest, these people appeared and made a pleasing impression on their audience.

Girls' Sextette: Doris Leffler, Lois Humble, Gweneth Krusor, Dixie Carter, Iowa Huber, Francis Sartor.

The girls' sextette (another group rated superior) sang for a variety of organizations and various groups—at the Girl Reserve Luncheon, at church programs, and church services. With the exception of two members, the experience of singing together as a small group was new to them, but judging from the results, this did not effect their singing.

The plot of this clever operetta involved an American Pickle manufacturer, his daughter, and his advertising agent who were visiting in Vienna at carnival time when there is gaiety, color, romance, music—and gypsies. The plot becomes complicated when the advertising agent falls in love with a gypsy princess—in truth, the lost daughter of a rich widow. In spite of plots and difficulties, the operetta ends satisfactorily and everyone lives happily ever after.

FORENSIC CLUB

The Board of Control

Bottom row: Mary Atchison, Martha Mace, and Mary Westphal.

The officers are: John Killian, President; Don Marek, Vice-president; Mary Westphal, Corresponding Secretary; and Mary Atchison, Recording Secretary.

This year the Forensic Club sponsored all speech events not a part of regular class work. Debate, declamatory, interpretative reading, and play production were the outstanding activities of the club. At the first of the year, the old constitution was revised to include new projects of the club and make other practical changes. The system of awarding credits was altered slightly making the distribution of points fairer. The member at the close of the year with the highest number of points received a special award and the ten next highest received forensic pins.

The problems which arose in Mrs. Spangler's college boarding house the day before Commencement would call for several college graduates to solve them. Howard Brant's term paper had to be turned in to Professor Bean before Howard could graduate. His Aunt Maude, his friends and his girl all tried to help, each in his or her own way, and consequently, embarrassing situations for everyone occurred. Needless to say, Howard with all of this able assistance did graduate and marry "the girl."

Cecil Replogle caused quite a disturbance by taking the smaller of the Two Marys for a joy ride.

DEBATE

The first debate was a practice debate at Mt. Pleasant. No decisions were rendered but the debate was helpful in that it helped the Washington teams to get some experience in the art of argumentation. Later in the season the two negative teams and affirmative teams attended a debate contest at Iowa City. Here Washington debaters battled loyally for their school—sometimes in vain, however, as far as the judges were concerned. One negative team lost finally by only one point.

Besides going out of town to debates, Washington and Iowa City teams debated here in April and other debates were held at home. The question, which was "Resolved: That the several states should adopt a unicameral system of legislature", was thoroughly discussed over and over again.

DECLAMATORY

In the picture: Esther Hayes, Margaret Flenner, and Dorothy Livesay.

The declamatory contest has become an annual event. This year twelve people participated in the home contest and after other aspiring speakers were eliminated, the following girls were chosen to represent the school at the contest held in Brighton; Margaret Flenner, from the dramatic division, Dorothy Livesay, from the humorous, and Esther Hayes from the oratorical division. Dorothy and Esther both placed second.

But aside from these three, a number of others showed special interest in this activity. The others who were in home contest and who gave the final winners some competition were those listed below.

Dramatic Readers:

Evalyn Nebergall, Margaret Flenner, and Helen Patterson.

Humorous:

Helen Hobbs, Gayle Robertson, Dorothy Livesay, Beulah Stewart, and Dick Birney.

Oratorical:

Ruth Wead, Don Marek, Esther Hayes, and Wilma Thompson.

INTERPRETATIVE READING

Interpretative reading seemed to be a favorite activity this year, especially with the girls, and the female members of the organization, probably since they outnumbered the boys, represented the school often. Lois Humble, Dorothy Livesay, and Helen Hobbs read at the interpretative reading contest at Mt. Pleasant—Lois placing the highest of any reader at the contest. Esther Hayes, Martha Mace, Ruth Turner, and Mary Atchison attended the reading festival at Iowa City.

Louder, longer, and funnier, please!

GIRL RESERVE CABINET

1st row: Frances Sartor, Program Chairman; Martha Mace, Vice-president; Mary Westphal, President; Maurita Darnel, Publicity Chairman; Helen Rhodebeck, Music Chairman.

2nd Row: Clara Ann Huber, Finance Chairman; Mary Atchison, Social Chairman; June Knotek, Secretary; Mary Donaldson, Social Service Chairman; Ruth Turner, Treasurer.

The Girl Reserves have tried this year to become better acquainted with the senior organization, the Y. W. C. A. The mothers of the girls have helped give the club two interesting luncheons, at one of which the president of the Y. W. C. A. spoke. The programs have been varied and have included music, talks, and playlets.

The social season opened with a "slumgullion" at the park (Doesn't that sound appetizing—and fun?). Next was a potluck followed by a scavenger hunt with the Hi-Y and the annual Little Sister Banquet which is always popular. This organization of about one hundred girls wishes to create a friendly atmosphere among girls and be of some benefit to the school and community by giving assistance in various ways where it is needed.

HI-Y

The Hi-Y boys thoroughly enjoy the dinners served by their mothers every two weeks. This isn't enough for them so they have special dinners such as the banquet they gave their Dads. Later they entertained the Wayland Hi-Y Club.

As last year, members of the club had charge of the Junior Hi-Y composed of grade school boys, and supervised some of their play. Their sponsors are Mr. Soule, Mr. Gingerich, and Mr. Williams, and their officers are: Dick Birney, President; Dick Hotle, Vice-president; Everett Burham, Second Vice-president; Dale Voorhees, Secretary; Edward McCutchen, Treasurer; Wayne Knupp, Sergeant-at-arms; David Pearson, Social Secretary; Bob Masson, Membership Secretary.

4th row: Clyde Dodds, Stanley Chabal, Bill Brown, Bill Longer, John Gardner, Richard Knupp.

8th row: Clinton Stewart, Marion Timmins, Charles Maas, Don Marek, John Killian, William Marie, Mr. Williams.

When larger appetites are had, the Hi-Y boys will have them.

COMMERCIAL CLUB

Commercial Club was organized to further the interest in commercial subjects. This year each meeting of the club was a combination of a business meeting and a social affair. The business meeting was held first. Usually a speaker was the special feature of the evening. Afterwards a party was soon under way, and these parties provided fun for the club a number of times this year. The club has 81 members. The officers are as follows: President, Margaret Jean Snider, Vice President, Marsh Atkinson; Sec.-Treas., Maxine Baxter; Reporter, Phyllis Crayne.

3rd row: Faye Holland, Mildred Anderson, Janice Fry, Bea Moore, Mae Rita Ragan, Frances Hayes, Joan Brown, Wilma Thompson, Glenn Mace.

5th row: Nyla Reinier, Florence Godwin, Jane Eicher, Phyllis Crayne, Frances Sartor, Naomi Kyle, Rosella Sheetz, Fern Durst, Stanley Chabal.

NORMAL TRAINING CLUB

The Normal Training Club is made up of the girls who are taking a normal training course in high school. The purpose of the organization is to foster among the members of the class an interest in teaching. At the meetings, usually a speaker talks to them on matters of interest to the club. Naomi Johnson is President, Ada Beenblossom is Vice-president, Margaret Chalupa, Secretary, and Wilma Richards, Treasurer.

In the top picture Thelma Benson is acting as teacher and she is instructing Fern Reinier, Rosella Sheetz, and Frances Hindahl.

Wilma Richards is teaching a lesson in short division to Margaret Chalupa and Margery Chalupa.

Gladys Stalder, Rosella Sheetz, Frances Hindahl are being taught by Naomi Johnson.

Here, Margaret Chalupa, Maxine Steele, and Gladys Stalder are getting instructions from Ada Beenblossom.

The future maids of tomorrow — Yea, man.

THE PUBLIC SCHOOL JOURNAL

The newstaff each week was responsible for the school page (in the Evening Journal) which appeared every Monday evening. Many of the staff were journalism students, and the paper had a pleasant variety of features—editorials, poems, book reviews, news stories, and of course—gossip.

NEWSTAFF

Picture I. Margaret Flenner, editor, is working with two other members of the staff. Truman Hysell is pasting a newstory in a scrapbook and Mae Rita Ragan is typing.

Picture II. Duane Griggs is consulting a dictionary to look for synonyms while Maxine Schoonover watches Martha Mace type her story. Donald Marek is standing at the back of the picture. Ernest Moothart is studying a reference on news writing.

Picture IV. Each journalism student clipped stories, pasted them in scrapbooks, and thus had them for reference. Margaret Flenner, Martha White, Dick Hotle, Dale Voorhees, Virginia Stutsman, and Bill Walker are busy with these books.

M. Flenner, (making an assignment)—
"Have you read Dale Carnegie's book,
"How to Win Friends and Influence People"?"

Duane Griggs—"No, but I could—in a month or two."

CLASS PLAY, 1937, "A FULL HOUSE"

By Fred Jackson

[illegible]

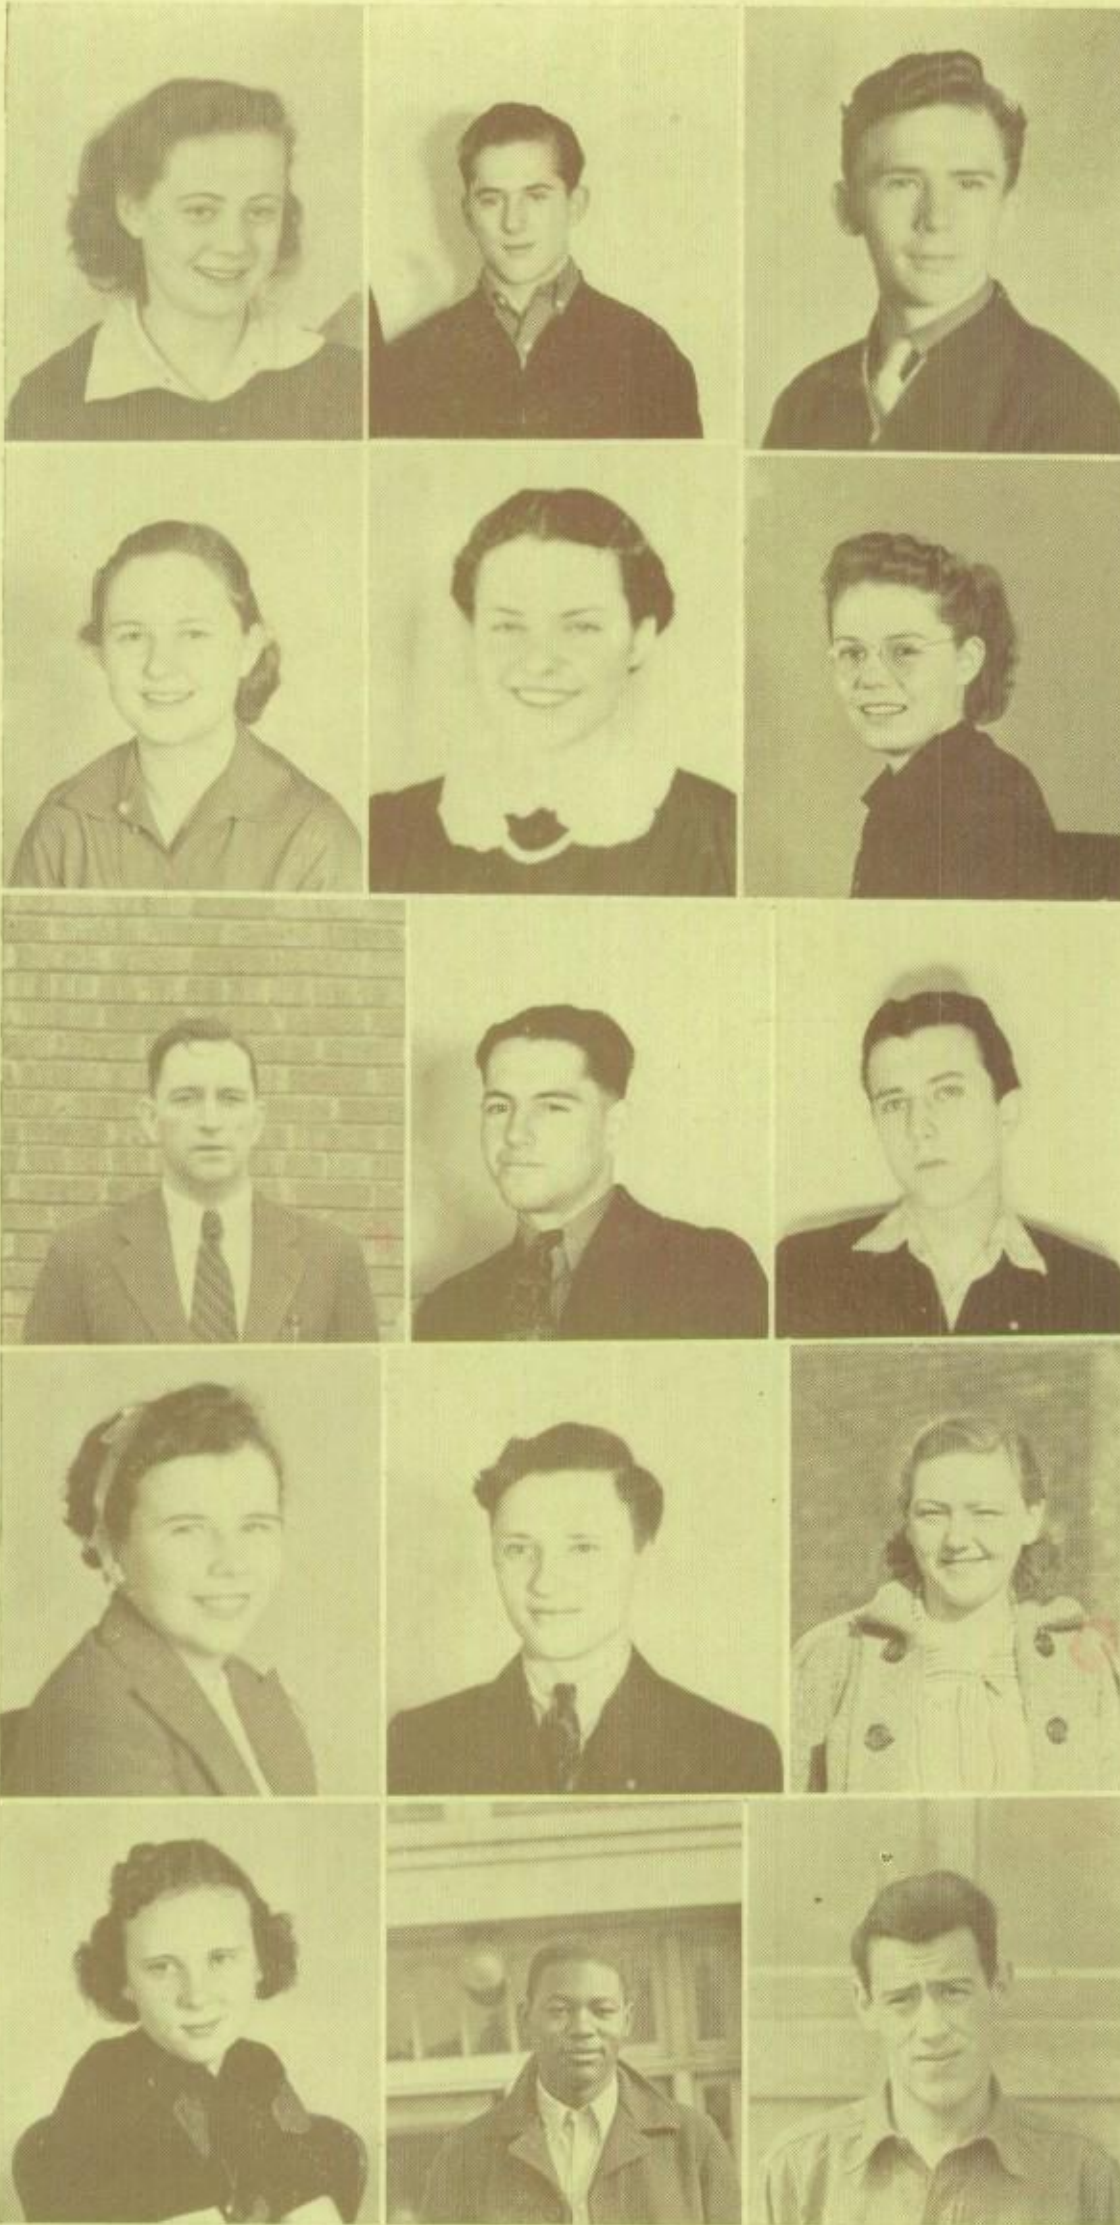

"A Full House," a three act farce, presented by the Class of '37, was concerned with a newly married couple, their servants, relatives, and friends, a crook and a jewel robbery of a necklace. Misunderstandings caused by the robbery of a necklace kept some member of the household in "hot water" most of the time. The police suspecting that someone in the home is guilty forbids anyone to leave, and hence the name of the play—"A Full House." The jewels at last are returned to their rightful owner and the plays ends happily.

Miss Kent—"What does the word 'personality' mean?"

Stanley McKeown—"I don't know. But the answer is on the second page of to-day's lesson."

- 26th and 27th: Senior Class Play
- 29th: Baccalaureate services for seniors
was held tonight
Many good suggestions we'll follow with all our might.
- 31st: Seniors the Juniors did entertain;
I'm sure the good times in their minds will remain.

JUNE

- 2nd: Commencement has finally come
at last;
But in the ten years we'll realize it was too fast.

The more than usual lack of intelligence among the students one morning got under the teacher's skin.

"Class is dismissed," he said, exasperatedly. "Please don't flap your ears as you pass out."

The dance band practice was in full swing, but something had gone wrong. The group looked at the saxophone player. "Why on earth did you leave off playing just as we got to the chorus?" "Well," answered Gene Tucker, "on my music it says, 'Refrain,' so I did."

FOOTBALL

Throughout the season these fellows offered their fans many thrilling games. They always showed fine spirit and yet, good sportsmanship. Although they lost several games by a small margin, they were "out there" the next game with all the more pep and fight. Since many of the fellows expect to be back on the field next year, we have promising prospects for another strong team.

The football game was being played with Waukon in torrents of rain. The team were ankle-deep in mud.

At the half the home players were a little behind. Everything seemed to be going against them.

"Come on, boys!" shouted Art Bishop. "The tide's with us now!"

BASKETBALL

Although the prospects look very favorable for another good basketball team next year, we shall greatly miss Coach Freshwaters. "Freshy", as he is known to most of us, has been one of the "best-liked" coaches we have ever had. From his record here in coaching we can easily see his ability in turning out winning teams. This year the boys went to the State tournament, losing their third game with Mason City, the champions. Although we won't have "Freshy" next year, our "material" from this year will promise us many exciting games.

"Well," said the waiter in a cafe to Carl Stites who had just had his seventh cup of coffee, "you must be very fond of coffee."

"Yes, indeed," answered Carl, "or I wouldn't be drinking so much water to get a little."

CHEMISTRY CLUB

The Washington College Chemistry Club was organized in 1934. Any Junior College student, who is taking Chemistry, is eligible for membership. This year the membership is twenty. The officers are: Naomi Wilson, president; Marguerite Hardy, vice-president; Robert Eckels, secretary-treasurer.

Regular meetings, with both student and outside speakers were held under the sponsorship of Miss Stahl, on the third Thursday of the month in the Chemistry lecture room.

The Club had an interesting program throughout the year. This included a trip to Iowa City to visit the university laboratories. The Club also visited the Washington Dairy and the Calendar Factory. There were two parties held throughout the year.

An outstanding feature of the year was "Open House." Guests were invited and various types of demonstrations were performed by the students. The year's program was concluded by a social function.

Beginning College Chemistry Class

Dale Carstensen, Adrian Sutton, Mary Luers, Donald Griffith and Charles Wolf.

Qualitative Analysis Class

Doris Klepfer, Tom Gray, Miss Stahl, John Campbell and Marguerite Hardy.

Qualitative Analysis Class

Adrian Sutton, Naomi Wilson, Helen Finney, Bob Eckels.

Chemistry Club Officers

Naomi Wilson—President.
Bob Eckels—Secretary-Treasurer.
Marguerite Hardy—Vice-President.

Miss Stahl: "Tommy, what does HNO-3 signify?"

Tommy Gray: "Ah er—I've got it right on the tip of my tongue."

Miss Stahl: "Well, you'd better spit it out. It's nitric acid."

GERMAN CLUB

The German Club, under the sponsorship of Mr. Jurgens, is composed of members of the Junior College German classes. The Club, which was started three years ago, has now a membership of 35 and meets the second Thursday of every month for a program of instruction and entertainment. At some of the meetings, films of German life and sports were shown. German folk songs were learned and sung during each of the monthly meetings.

In March, the Club enjoyed a program of German classical music. One group of students gave short reports about the life of nine German composers, and another group illustrated the music of each composer.

A social hour was usually held after the program, during which refreshments were served and German songs were sung.

The activities of the Club climaxes in a picnic some time in May.

The officers for this year are: President: Matt Redlinger, Jr.; Vice-president: Wilma Kerr; and Secretary: Betty Hamil.

Mr. Jurgens: "Why do we call English our mother tongue?"

Bob Spera: "Because father doesn't get much chance to use it."

CARNEGIE FOUNDATION AWARD

"Perhaps the most important recognition of the nationwide significance and permanence of the junior college movement which has ever been made was the decision, in 1934, of the trustees of the Carnegie Corporation of New York to initiate a study of junior college libraries in the United States and, if conditions warranted, to make grants of several hundred thousand dollars for increases in their book collections. Now, after three years of extensive and intensive study, the Carnegie Advisory Group on Junior College Libraries has completed its work and as a result grants totaling three hundred thousand dollars have been made to 92 junior colleges in all parts of the country, an up-to-date list of desirable books for junior college libraries has been published, new standards for junior college libraries have been developed, material for an extensive analysis of the characteristics and possibilities of junior college libraries has been collected, junior college administrators have become distinctly conscious of the fundamental importance of the library in the institutions which they are administering, and the educational and general public has had brought before it, as never before, the significant place which, in the judgment of the officers and trustees of the Carnegie Corporation, the junior college now occupies in American education.

"It is obvious that these results are of outstanding significance for the relatively young but vigorous and growing junior college movements. Had the Corporation regarded the junior college as a temporary educational fad, as it has sometimes been characterized, it would scarcely have put so much time and money into this study." Editorial by Walter Crosby Eells in THE JUNIOR COLLEGE JOURNAL, October 1937.

The Washington Junior College was very fortunate to be one of these ninety-two junior colleges. The award allotted to the local college was one thousand five hundred dollars. This year over three hundred fifty volumes have been placed in the library. This includes, a set of twenty-four volumes of the Encyclopaedia Britannica, a set of Groves Dictionary of Music and Musicians in six volumes, a set of Baker's History of the English Novel in eight volumes, and a copy of the New Standard Dictionary of the English Language by Funk and Wagnalls.

Improvements have been made in the library to take care of this new material.

When the Seniors of Junior College went to visit Drake University, Keith Stewart asked the guide: "What's that building over there?"

Guide: "Oh, that's the greenhouse."

Keith Stewart: "I didn't know the freshmen had a dormitory all to themselves."

COURSE OF INSTRUCTION

SCIENCE DEPARTMENT

BIOLOGY I and II—GENERAL BIOLOGY

A general course, the main purpose of which is not only to lay a foundation for more advanced work in specialized biological fields but also to give the student a general idea of the entire biological science with its working principles. Special emphasis is placed on Zoology. Two lectures and four hours of laboratory per week. Four hours of credit each semester.

CHEMISTRY I and II—INTRODUCTORY GENERAL CHEMISTRY

A general course for students who desire a broad understanding of the principles underlying this science. Two lecture and recitation periods and four hours of laboratory per week. Four hours of credit each semester.

CHEMISTRY I and II—INTRODUCTORY GENERAL CHEMISTRY

A general course for students who desire a broad understanding of the principles underlying this science. Two lecture and recitation periods and four hours of laboratory per week. Four hours of credit each semester.

CHEMISTRY III—INORGANIC CHEMISTRY

This course is for students who have had one year of high school chemistry. More extensive work is carried on in both theory and laboratory preparations of the inorganic compounds. Two lectures and four hours of laboratory per week. Four hours of credit.

CHEMISTRY IV—QUALITATIVE ANALYSIS

A study of the distinctive properties of the more common inorganic compounds, with practice in systematic analysis. Two lectures and six hours of laboratory per week. Four hours of credit.

CHEMISTRY V and VI—GENERAL ORGANIC CHEMISTRY

A study of the chemical behavior of the more important organic compounds such as hydrocarbons, alcohols, carbohydrates, derivatives of benzene, etc. This course will fulfill the requirement in this field for those expecting to enter Dentistry, Medicine, or Home Economics. One lecture and three hours of laboratory per week. Two hours of credit each semester.

ENGLISH DEPARTMENT

ENGLISH I and II—ART OF WRITING

Study of the mechanics of composition, sentence analysis, and paragraph development. Exposition and Description. Background studies in literature will include the Odyssey. Three hours credit each semester. Required of freshmen.

ENGLISH III and IV—ENGLISH LITERATURE

Studies in English literature from Chaucer and Browning with attention to form as well as to content. Class studies and outside readings of a number of others. Two hours credit.

ENGLISH V—SHAKESPEARE

Survey of life and time of Shakespeare in relation to development of the drama. Intensive study of three plays and general reading of a number of others. Two hours credit.

ENGLISH VI—THE ENGLISH NOVEL

Study of development of English novel through eighteenth century. Class study of Pride and Prejudice by Jane Austin, with readings from Scott, Dickens, Thackeray and Hardy. Two hours credit.

SPEECH I and II—ORAL ENGLISH

A course in practical speech training stressing enunciation, pronunciation, and effective oral expression of every-day, social, and business relations. Required of all freshmen. One hour credit each semester.

D. Honts: "Gosh, I need five dollars and I don't know where to get it."

B. Newnam: "I'm glad of that! I was afraid you thought you could get it from me."

LANGUAGE DEPARTMENT

GERMAN I and II—FIRST-YEAR GERMAN

A study of German grammar in connection with translations throughout the year. Also daily exercises in writing and speaking German. About 1350 words and 275 idiomatic expressions are to be learned during the year. Ten modern German readers are used for the first-year reading material. Four hours credit each semester.

GERMAN III and IV—SECOND-YEAR GERMAN

Essentially a reading course with oral exercises and grammar review on the basis of the reading material. Modern and interesting books are used for readers. German customs, art, literature, music, and philosophy will be discussed in classes. Three hours credit, each semester.

DRAMATICS

DRAMATICS I and II—PLAY PRODUCTION

The course work will consist in part in a rapid review of the origin of the theatre from earliest times, its European growth and development through the mediaeval period, and its significant place in the modern world. The larger part of the work, however, will consist in a consideration of the problems involved in play production, with considerable time devoted to stage and laboratory experiments. Two hours of credit each semester.

SOCIAL SCIENCE DEPARTMENT

HISTORY I and II—MODERN EUROPEAN HISTORY

General survey of European History in its political and social aspect from 1500 to the present. A required course for freshmen. Three hours credit each semester.

HISTORY III and IV—HISTORY OF THE UNITED STATES

A survey of the development of democracy and nationalism from the colonial period to the present time. The division of the work into semesters is at the year 1829. The political and constitutional development will be paralleled by economic and social changes. Three hours credit each semester.

GOVERNMENT V and VI—AMERICAN GOVERNMENT

A course which traces the development of federal government in the United States and state and local government in Iowa. Occasional contrasts will be made with the European government and government as used in the other states. Current problems in citizenship will be a part of the course. Three hours credit each semester.

Mr. Dickinson was impressed by the "knock, knock" craze. Loren sent him this one: "Knock, knock! Who's there! Popeye. Popeye who? Popeye need some more money." And Loren meant it, so his dad doesn't think it is so funny.

MATHEMATICS DEPARTMENT

MATHEMATICS I and II—ALGEBRA, TRIGONOMETRY, ANALYTICS

A general course in Mathematics for students intending to follow engineering and scientific courses. Prerequisite, three semesters of High School Algebra and three semesters of High School Geometry. This course is divided into three parts, to each of which approximately twelve weeks will be given.

(a) Algebra; quadratic equations, variations, progressions, binominal theorem, theory of logarithms.

(b) Trigonometry; the elements of Plane Trigonometry with its application.

(c) Analytical Geometry; general course in Analytical Geometry.

Four hours credit each semester.

MATHEMATICS III and IV—ALGEBRA, TRIGONOMETRY

A general course in Mathematics for students of liberal arts. This course is designed for students who have but two semesters of High School Algebra and two semesters of Geometry. The first semester consists of an introductory course in College Algebra. The second semester is taken up with a study of the elements of Plane Trigonometry and its application. Four hours credit each semester.

MATHEMATICS V—ANALYTIC GEOMETRY

A study of coordinates, straight lines, conics, transformation of coordinates, equations, polar equations and graphs of certain curves. Prerequisite College Algebra and Trigonometry.

PSYCHOLOGY DEPARTMENT

PSYCHOLOGY I and II—GENERAL PSYCHOLOGY

A general introductory course open to sophomores. The course is conducted by the project method. The plan used from the many possibilities open has four leading objectives: (1) to keep each student busy at his natural level of successful achievement, (2) to introduce the student to scientific methods of psychology through experiment, (3) to place the student in an active scholarly attitude of self help and freedom; and (4) to acquaint the student with the best psychologists through effective utilization of books. The first semester is a study of pure psychology. It is a prerequisite for many courses in psychology. The second semester is a study of applied psychology. Three hours of credit each semester.

PHYSICAL TRAINING DEPARTMENT

Unless excused for valid reasons all students will be required to schedule for physical training. The course will consist of calisthenics and indoor and outdoor athletic sports. Classes will meet twice a week.

Mr. Whisler and Lawrence were having their picture taken together. It was suggested that Lawrence should stand with his hand on his father's shoulder.

Mr. Whisler said: "It would be much more lifelike if he stood with his hand in my pocket."
